

PRINCIPLES ON MARRIAGE

- 1. Marriage is a union of husband and wife, intended to be permanent.
- 2. Marriage protects and promotes the wellbeing of children.
- 3. When marriage weakens, children suffer from the disadvantages (economic, emotional, educational, social, spiritual) of growing up in homes without committed mothers and fathers.
- 4. Marriage elevates and protects our sexual nature.
- 5. Marriage sustains civil society and promotes the common good.
- 6. Marriage is a wealth-creating institution
- 7. The laws that govern marriage should reflect the principles above

The "Ten Principles on Marriage and the Public Good" are the result of scholarly discussions that began in December, 2004 at a meeting in Princeton, New Jersey, sponsored by the Witherspoon Institute.

This conference brought together scholars from History, Economics, Psychiatry, Law, Sociology and Philosophy to share with each other the findings of their research on why marriage is in the public interest
